Match background

Two clubs who began their UEFA Europa Conference League journey in the second qualifying round meet with a place in the quarter-finals at stake as European perennials Partizan and Feyenoord go head to head in UEFA competition for the first time.

- Partizan took the runners-up spot behind Gent in Group B despite failing to win any of their last four fixtures, but then triumphed in both legs of their knockout round play-off against Sparta Praha, 1-0 in Prague with a goal from Dutchman Queensy Menig and 2-1 in Belgrade with a double from Ricardo Gomes, who was later sent off.
- Feyenoord's direct qualification for the round of 16 was earned as unbeaten winners of Group E, in which they finished six points ahead of runners-up Slavia Praha.

Previous meetings

- Partizan are undefeated by Dutch clubs in Belgrade (W3 D1), winning their two previous knockout ties – both against Groningen – and most recently drawing 2-2 twice with AZ Alkmaar in the 2019/20 UEFA Europa League group stage, with Israeli midfielder Bibras Natcho scoring both goals in the home fixture.
- This is Feyenoord's first UEFA encounter with a Serbian club for over 40 years, and they have lost each of their previous two ties, both in the UEFA Cup – on away goals against OFK Beograd in the 1972/73 second round (4-3 h, 1-2 a) and 2-1 on aggregate against Radnički Niš in the 1981/82 third round (0-2 a, 1-0 h).

Form guide

Partizan

- Runners-up to Crvena zvezda in both domestic competitions last season, finishing 13 points adrift in the Serbian SuperLiga and losing on penalties after a goalless draw in the cup final, Partizan's reward was a qualifying spot in the inaugural UEFA Europa Conference League.
- The club's 26th successive European campaign kicked off in the second qualifying round of the new competition, where they defeated Dunajská Streda before prevailing on penalties against Sochi and coming from behind to beat Santa Clara in the play-offs. Victorious in each of their opening two Group B games – against Anorthosis (2-0 a) and Flora Tallinn (2-0 h) – Aleksandar Stanojević's side chalked up just two more points but the second of them, in a 1-1 draw at home to Anorthosis on Matchday 6, was enough to clinch qualification, albeit with a five-point deficit on group winners Gent.
- Partizan have won 14 of their last 21 European matches in Belgrade, losing just two, including a 0-1 defeat to Gent on Matchday 3, which ended a six-match unbeaten home run (W5 D1). The 2-1 win against Sparta last time out was the club's first European victory in Belgrade after the turn of the year since they overcame Manchester United 2-0 in the first leg of the 1965/66 European Cup semi-final – a tie they won 2-1 on aggregate.

Feyenoord

- Fifth in the Dutch Eredivisie last season, 29 points in arrears of champions and traditional rivals Ajax, Feyenoord secured their fifth European group stage appearance in six seasons by coming through three UEFA Europa Conference League qualifying rounds under new head coach Arne Slot at the expense of Drita, Luzern and Elfsborg.
- The Rotterdam club had failed to make further progress in four successive European group stage participations until this season, most recently finishing third in their UEFA Europa League section last term, but they had no such difficulties in UEFA Europa Conference League Group E, taking four points off both Slavia (2-1 h, 2-2 a) and Maccabi Haifa (0-0 a, 2-1 h) and all six off Union Berlin (3-1 h, 2-1 a).
- That 2-1 win in the German capital on Matchday 4 was one of just four victories in Feyenoord's last 33 European away fixtures (D9 L20) and ended a run of four successive European group games on the road without a goal. Their away record in the UEFA Europa Conference League, however, is W3 D2 L1, the sole defeat 1-3 at Elfsborg in the second leg of the play-offs after they had won the first game 5-0 in Rotterdam.
